State to consider appealing acquittal of curfew breaches

The Director of Public Prosecutions, Mr Christopher Pryde, has said that the State will consider an appeal against the decision of the Magistrates' Court to acquit Ravin Lal and Shalvin Chand on charges of breach of curfew.

The Magistrates' Court acquitted Ravin Lal and Shalvin Chand on 15th April 2020 on the grounds that the charge was defective.

Mr Pryde said: "It would appear that the Magistrate may have made an error of law and the State will now review the decision before deciding on whether to appeal."
